

Bush House

This is a delightful secluded small lodge situated half way between the sea and Pangalse Canal is located in eastern Madagascar. Well hidden amongst the forest, you'll have excellent views from this hillside location. Reaching Bush House, situated in Ankany Ny Nofy (the Nest of Dreams) is an adventure in itself. The journey involves an interesting boat trip through the fresh water lakes and canals of the Pangalanes, affording passengers the opportunity to view daily village life on the banks of the river.

Situated on a piece of land half way between the sea and the fresh water of Lake Ampitabile, Bush House is built from local materials. It is well hidden in the forest and provides accommodation in bungalows and rooms, all with private facilities. A generator produces power while meals are prepared on open fires and gas appliances, where the menu includes traditional Malagasy, Creole and French dishes. There is also a bar and restaurant.

Activities include a wide range of water sports, hikes to local villages, trips to the sea and an excursion to view the lemurs, reptiles and interesting plant life in the Bush House Reserve.. You can explore the beautiful unspoiled surroundings on foot or by boat, or walk in the nearby private reserve to see some of the species protected there. These include crowned, red-bellied, ring-tailed and black and white ruffled lemurs as well as chameleons and radiated tortoises. Some water based activities are also available, including canoeing.
